CALL TO ALASKA NATIVE MODELS: for 'Wear Art, Thou?' an Alaska Native Fashion Show

ANCHORAGE, AK (February 26, 2013) – Alaska Native Arts Foundation (ANAF) is calling all Alaska Native models for Wear Art, Thou? an Alaska Native fashion show at the Egan Center on April 28, 2013 at 2:00 – 5:00 p.m. in Anchorage, Alaska.

ANAF is looking for male and female models that will confidently showcase the wearable art pieces and feature the traditional and contemporary clothing, jewelry and accessories vibrantly. Please e-mail sabrina@alaskanativearts.org by March 25, 2013 if you will be attending the audition. Please include: your name, e-mail address, phone number and cultural affiliation.

Wear Art, Thou? is funded by the Alaska Native Arts Foundation, a non-profit organization. Compensation will not be provided to the models.

The audition will take place at the Alaska Dispatch located at 2301 Merrill Field Drive on March 27, 2013 at 5:00 P.M.

The Alaska Native Arts Foundation ("ANAF") brings exposure to Alaska Native art in the global marketplace by increasing awareness of the cultural expressions of Alaska's indigenous peoples and stimulates demand for Native works of art. ANAF's primary goals are to be art consultants to our customers and stewards to our artists.
